

Three years after graduating and practicing dentistry in Mississippi, Tennessee and North Carolina, I chose to start a dental practice from scratch. My accountant introduced me to Bill Miller when I became interested in building rather than buying out an already established office. Bill worked with my lender handling all administrative paperwork thoroughly. Beginning my first business venture at age thirty-two, I was careful in choosing someone who had both the experience in construction but also patience with me during the process. I chose to have Bill add on to an existing structure. And, Bill worked through the design process with engineers, an architect, and a graphic designer to create an office with the flow that I desired. The project was completed ahead of schedule, and Bill managed my budget effectively to eliminate extra costs.

Without a doubt, my dental office is the prettiest I have ever seen. The finished quality of the work was more than I anticipated. Bill did an excellent job combining the existing structure with the addition to make the building as a whole appear seamless. With the extensive plumbing and electrical outfitting for the dental field, I am sure the construction was no easy undertaking. That is why I am so grateful for Bill's fine work and would highly recommend him for any job you have in mind. Please call or email me to speak anytime and feel free to stop by the office for a tour.
